Mint of the United States

Dear Sir

Phila.a Aug.t 30. 1833

After my letter of yesterday morning was mailed I had the satisfaction of receiving yours of the 19th ultimo. By the same packet Mr. Eckfeldt rec.d also your favourable communication respecting the pay balances provided for him — he will write at another time in acknowledgment of your attention to his wishes. — I enclose herewith a draft in favour of this Mint for your own account at Rothschilds for £96 for the amount of the note which is remitted by this opportunity. I have also on behalf of Mr. Eckfeldt drawn bills on the Treasury which will of course be placed to your credit & held subject to your order. — In regard to the pay balances for the public officers you will communicate your opinion after having been furnished with the Laws. —

Of course you will not expect to receive any charge for services rendered to your mission without referring the matter to me. — The allowance of reasonable pay for agents in diplomatic intercourse is a point as Mr. Dickerson informed you on which I am awaiting instructions in Paris. This omission may be explained by all the suggestions which occur to me now as necessary or even proper for me to communicate which you have before this time received. The general report required by your last letter of any misconduct on the part of our Consuls will be made up & forwarded to you as soon as practicable. — I enclose herewith a letter under temporary disappointment & while the facilities are less inviting for our object of Jamet devote your attention to your more favourable avocations. I am &c others without being disconnected at times & wants will open
